Angelica Espinosa appointed Portland General Electric's new Vice President, General Counsel

PORTLAND, Ore., MM DD, YY -- Angelica Espinosa has been appointed Portland General Electric's Vice President, General Counsel, effective March 18, 2022.

Espinosa joined PGE in July 2021 as the Deputy General Counsel and Corporate Secretary with a focus on board governance, power operations structuring and origination, FERC regulatory compliance and corporate securities issues. She has advanced PGE's board effectiveness, aligned PGE's and shareholders' priorities around Environmental, Social and Governance (ESG).

Espinosa has over 18 years of legal and risk management experience in the utility and energy industries.

"Angelica brings exceptional legal expertise and leadership. She has worked across diverse areas important to PGE, critical to safe, reliable, and affordable operations and our clean energy transformation," said Maria Pope, PGE's CEO and President.

Prior to joining PGE, Espinosa worked for Sempra Energy and its subsidiaries, holding a variety of leadership positions, most recently serving as vice president of Gas Acquisition at Southern California Gas Company (SoCalGas), vice president, Safety, Compliance and Chief Risk Officer of SoCalGas and San Diego Gas and Electric, vice president of Compliance, Governance and Corporate Secretary of Sempra Energy. She also worked at General Electric (GE) in a range of legal leadership positions, including regional counsel for Latin America and associate general counsel for commercial operations in GE's Oil & Gas division.
